

ABSTRACT

A tail lamp device that is mountable on a rear fender of a motorcycle is disclosed. The tail lamp device includes a tail lamp that is attached to the rear
5 fender. The tail lamp includes a substrate and a plurality of light emitting elements such as LEDs mounted on the substrate, and the substrate is disposed along a rearwardly descending surface of the rear fender.